
Electronic Distance Measurement

electronic distance measurement (edm) error - electronic distance measurement electronic distance measurement (edm) error: (section 6.17- 6.24) distance measured using a total station is based on the measurement of the phase angle of the return beam of electro-magnetic (em) energy as it is transmitted over a two-way distance between source and reflector through the atmosphere. 1 electronic distance measurement - usa track & field - electronic distance measurement - page 1 electronic distance measurement electronic distance measurement, aka "edm", is used in eight field events: high jump, long jump, triple jump, pole vault, discus, shot put, hammer throw and javelin. in most events, a tape measure is used to make the measurements, but the process of notes on electronic distance measurement - mygeodesy - electronic distance measurement (edm) is a fundamental feature of modern surveying total stations. distance measurements can be made in two modes: [1] with a reflector using an infrared or visible laser electromagnetic wave and phase measurement or [2] 'reflectorless' using a visible laser beam and pulse time of flight. calibration of electronic distance measurement instruments - calibration of electronic distance measurement instruments . 1. introduction . an electronic distance measurement (edm) instrument is calibrated on a baseline to determine instrument constants and errors. a series of measurements on a baseline can also be used to check the performance and electronic distance measurement - gbv - j. m. rieger electronic distance measurement an introduction fourth edition with 56 figures and 18 tables springer determination of electronic distance measurement ... - esj - electronic distance measurement (edm) will be presented. kf easily resolves the adjustment of field measurements by using a recursive algorithm utilising part of its output as an input for the next iteration (bezrucka, 2011). methods for measuring distances - facstaff home page for cbu - methods for measuring distances •electric distance measurement (edm) distances are measured electronically by determining the number of full and partial waves of transmitted electromagnetic energy that are required in traveling the distance between the edm and a prism. can achieve an accuracy of +/- (1 mm + 1 ppm) to +/- (10 mm + 5 ppm). electronic distance measurement - home - springer - scientists who use electronic distance measurement as a measuring tool. great emphasis is placed on the understanding of measurement principles and on proper reduction and calibration procedures. it comprises an extensive collection of essential formulae, useful tables and numerous literature references. establishment of baseline using electronic distance ... - establishment of baseline using electronic distance measurement iosrjournals 80 | page control coordinates of the monuments through a collaborative venture among the geodesy group. importantly, part of the facility is connected geodetically to an existing edm calibration baseline. ...
